Uptown, crosstown, downtown, office commuter, shapely-framed fitness freak, zillion mpg vehicle of the future fit for everyday trips to anywhere near and far. Innovative design translates the traditional hunched over cycling position into an upright and forward pedaling ride—creating efficiency, torque and comfort. Eliminating tension in the back and shoulders, and opening up the view of the road. It's called Flat Foot Technology®, but you probably won't want to stop long enough to let your feet chill flat on the ground even though you know you can.
